There is an electrometer made that is self-registering by photography, but the cost of such instruments, and the delicate nature of their construction, debars them from coming into general use, for a good self-registering instrumen would cost something over $200. If our electricians could devise some more simple and easily-managed electrometer, and one that would not cost so much, the object could be accomplished and an additional certainty given to the conjecture of the "probabilities" or "indications" of the proach or occurrence of storms.

cations were invariably of positive electricity; that the change to negative electricity took place simultaneously with the change to warmer, thawing weather. It is also stated that the electric indications at the Kew Observatory, England, were the same as at Montsouris, France. For observations of atmospheric electricity M. Mascart uses a Thomson electrometer connected with a vessel having a continuous outflow of water. The deflections of the needle are transmitted every two and a half minutes to a pencil, which records them on a sheet of paper. The series of traces form a curve, not continuous, indeed, but nearly so. This apparatus was put in action at the College of in February, 1879, and the curves obtained "Tolerable. ing Exposition was thrown open to the public o-day, and the peremonies were of a character befitting such an event. All day yester day, and during early hours this morning regular and special railway trains brought large crowds of visitors, until the city was filled to overflowing. Denver presented a holiday appearance; business was for the most part suspended, and the buildings, both public and private, were gayly and beautifully decorated with the national colors. The procession moved about 1 o'clock, marchin through the principal streets. The sidewalk and windows, and roofs along the route was thronged with thousands of spectators. Pla oons of police were followed by Governor 1 W. Pitkin, Adjutant-General R. M. Stavenson and other military officers. Then cam the different military organizations. Nearly every militia company in the State was in line, and altegether presented a splan-did appearance. The civic societies and officials in carriages followed, including the Mayor and Aldermen, county officers, Lien tenant-Governor H. A. W. Taber, H. E Burchard, Director of the Mint, and Hon D. Kelley, of Pennsylvania, the orator of the day. The exercises at the exposition ouilding opened with the playing of ica" by the band, followed by a prayer, and then "Hail Columbia" by the band. Many distinguished persons occupied seats on the platform. Hon, W. D. Kel ey was introduced to the vast audience, and delivered the ora-tion of the day. The old-fashioned "French twist" of our mothers' days has been revived; also, the large bows formed of hair, which were fashionable some twenty years ago, and which preceded the chignon. Finger-puffs on the top of the head are also worn; so, too, are the long drooping ringlets, falling on the neck, which the Princess of Wales brought into favor at the time of her words.

WALLA WALLA, August 1st .- A suicide that in all its features is very sad, and which appears to have been the result of a practica joke, is reported from Van Sickle Springs, Umatilla county, occurring there about one week ago. The victim was Mrs. Affinger, the wife of a German farmer. The story is, in substance, as follows: It appears that she had become the object of dislike to some young men in that neighborhood, because she refused them the company of her daughter, about 15 years of age. About two of $20 in money and some articles of clothing, and by some of those who dislike Mrs.

Affinger she was accused of the robbery.

This was about as unlikely a story as could lustrious woman, and the family were almos cusation so affected her that, about a week ago, she attempted to take poison, but was prevented by a Mr. Bulow. Almost immediately after she went to another ranch, owned by Mr. Affinger, and there took a large dose of strychnine, which she procured from a supply her husband had on hand with which to poison squirrels. Mr. Bulew and her husband saw her mixing the poison in a glass, and made an effort to reach her before she could take it, but failed. They started with her back to her house, but on the way she fell back in the wagon and died. She leaves a large family of children, among them a baby about three months old.

Or Many Lies in a Small Compass A CARD FROM COL. JOHN J. FOSTER A Declaration of War by the Colonel on the "Chico Record."

EDS. RECORD UNION: This evening a clipping from a rural newspaper (?) called the Chico Record, was copied in the Bee, twentytwo lines in length, and containing nine distinct and positive lies, and as "I must needs report the truth" and, to further quote Shakespeare, pronounce the article

"A lie; an odious, damned lie; Upon my soul, a wicked lie." Firstly-Robinson's show has had no backuck since it reached the Pacific coast. Secondly—One of the principal actors, nor any other memter of the large company, was shot by anybody.

Thirdly—The mammoth ex did not die in Nevada. The mammoth ox is now with the show.

Fourthly—No lion died, nor did any of our camels or leopards die in Utah or elsewhere Fifthly-No dromedary was knocked off the cars nor killed at Wheatland. Sixthly-John Lowlow did not die at Red ding, nor anywhere else, but is still alive and appearing at each performance.

Seventhly—The show did not flourish in Nevada, but had the worse house and worse treatment in that bankrupt State it ever had Eightly-The show did not make mor money in Nevada and Utah this season than it made the whole of last year in the East.

Ninthly—The show was not in the East at Such a batch of willful lies I never read in one short article, and I lay it to the belief that the Record—like many other obscure village (miscalled) newspapers-did not succeed i wheedling our advance agent out of a two or three dollar advertisement. Responsible an first class newspapers pronounce the show the best ever placed upon the road. Respectfully

Wheat-No business was done at the Produce Exchange this morning. Snippers claim that the foreign markets do not offer any encouragement to pay current asking rates. Ships, however, are being loaded with comparative dispatch, and the manifested values when cleared indicate that most cargoes are secured at figures ranging from $1.70@1.71½ Cit. There is apparently no immediate pressure to sell. Good wheat that is well concentrated in second hands cannot be bought for less than $1.72½, while farmers who are free from obligations to money-lenders do not evince any marked intention of realizing just at present. The views of the buying and selling interests in regard to the future are much at variance. Many samples now effering are limited to $1.75, while $1.71½ is professed to be the outside purchasing figure. Still it is a good subject for sheep men to discuss, and if it can be practically demonstrated that a like yield can be had with about one half the labor, it would establish an economical proposition that would hardly be otherwise than favorable to the growth of year's fleece. The local market has been quite lively the past week, but the active feeling noted during this period is said to be quieting down. So Santa Barbara Press says : Orchardists are quite blue at the prices paid by the canneries this season for fruit. A leading one says that every pound of apricots he raised cost him two cents, and that there is nothing left for profits. Two or three years ago over 100 acres of land was bought for the purpose of setting out the apricot, but the project is abandoned, the present during this period is said to be quieting down. So far this week little stock has stanged hands. The stock of all grades continues large. Sales do not seem to materially reduce the quantity of offerings, as the several werehouses are kept full by constant accessions from all grants are kept full by constant prices not warranting any further outlay. According to the Enterprise, the butchers on the Comstock have been for some time

RAILBOAD TAXES. The Ruling of Judge Fawyer in the U. S. Circuit Court at San Francisco.

Justice Field at San Francisco, Monday, rendered the decision of the United States Circuit Court, denying the motion submitted some days ago, to remand the case of the County of San Mateo vs. the Southern Pacific Railroad to the Superior Court of San Mateo county for trial. As this case is consected a number of saits brought in diff. is one of a number of suits brought in different counties against the Central Pacific. Southern Pacific and the San Francisco and North Pacific Railroads, to recover State and county taxes claimed to be due, it is to be considered as deciding the others. The notion was argued July 11th and 17th by Creed Haymond, Delos Lake, T. B. Bishop, and T. I. Bergin for the large companies, and J. A. Johnson for the San Francisco and North Pacific Railroad. Attorney-General Hart represents the State. District Attorney Ware appears for Sonoma county; Du Brutz for Tulare county; G V. Smith for Kern county, and Rhodes & Barstow for San Mateo county. The trials are set for September 19th. Only such cases will be tried as the District Attorneys desire to press for trial. Included in the claims against the railroad companies are the delinquencies and fines under the rulings of the State Board of Equalization. Justice Field sustains the position of the defendants, holding that the Federal Courts have such jurisdiction. After reviewing the points raised on both sides—one of which, by the railroad companies, was that double taxation resulted from the rulings of the State Board of Equalization, and that discrimination had been exercised against them contrary to the provisions of the fourteenth amer ment of the Federal Constitution, which provides equal rights and liberties to alland analyzing the clauses of both the Federal and State Constitutions, under which The Alturas Jockey Club, says the Modoc Independent, has decided to give three days' races, to commence on Tuesday, Sep. before the Court were decidedly within its jurisdiction.
